

Career Snapshot

[First name] [Last initial]. · IT pathway · Week 8

How to use this: replace every gray [bracket] with your own words and delete the brackets. Use only the sources on the Career Lookup List. The worked example page shows how much detail each row needs.

This goes on your public portfolio Friday. First name and last initial only.

Career 1

Career the job title people use	[Career 1 name] · Official occupation: [name from O*NET], [code]
What they actually do two sentences, your words	[What does a normal day look like? Use O*NET Tasks.]
Work environment where, when, who with	[Indoors or out? Hours, nights, weekends, travel? Who do they deal with all day?]
Post-secondary pathway in Georgia	[Typical education after high school, plus one real program at one real Georgia college.]
Credentials certification + badge	[One industry certification employers ask for. How many exams? Does it come with a digital badge?]
Salary band Georgia	Low (10%): $[] Median: $[] High (90%): $[] Data year: [] What the band means for someone just starting: [one sentence]
Outlook percent AND openings	[Growing, steady, or shrinking? And how many openings a year?]
Sources at least two links	[Paste the links you used.]

Career 2

Career the job title people use	[Career 2 name] · Official occupation: [name from O*NET], [code]
What they actually do two sentences, your words	[What does a normal day look like? Use O*NET Tasks.]
Work environment where, when, who with	[Indoors or out? Hours, nights, weekends, travel? Who do they deal with all day?]
Post-secondary pathway in Georgia	[Typical education after high school, plus one real program at one real Georgia college.]
Credentials certification + badge	[One industry certification employers ask for. How many exams? Does it come with a digital badge?]
Salary band Georgia	Low (10%): $[] Median: $[] High (90%): $[] Data year: [] What the band means for someone just starting: [one sentence]
Outlook percent AND openings	[Growing, steady, or shrinking? And how many openings a year?]
Sources at least two links	[Paste the links you used.]

My pick, and why

Which one I would pursue	[Career name] construction manager
The one fact that decided it name the row	[Point at a specific row above. What made the difference?] i like that this career involves managing construction projects and could help me learn skills for my own construction business
What I would give up every choice costs something	[What does the other career do better?] free time
What surprised me	[One thing you expected to be different.] they make up to 100k a year